MODERN MAKERS

At Twig, we're built on the philosophy that no single piece of technology, no matter how well-made or well-intended, can replace the wonders of a child's imagination. Even the most tech-loving parents want their children to have the best of what they had when they were young—in a time when reality wasn't so virtual.

In a have-it-now world where virtually anything we want can be delivered to our doorstep on any day of the week, we're determined to slow down by reaching into the past and crafting by hand toys inspired by modern gadgets, but powered solely by a child's imagination.
